In Congress July 11th 1776

The Congress are so fully persuaded of the necessity of protecting the frontiers of New York from the incursions of the enemy, that they recommend that business to General Schuyler's immediate attention, and direct that if the situation of affairs will admit of it, he take proper steps for erecting a Fort at Oswego, and building Gallies on Lake Ontario, and pursue such other Measures as may be best fitted to answer the views of Congress

That Posts be taken and Forts erected at Presque Isle, Le Beuf, and Kittanning; & that a Battalion be raised to erect & Garrison the same

That the Commissioners of Indian Affairs in the middle Department be directed to inquire what Naval Force on Lake Erie will be necessary to secure to the United States the Command of the Navigation of that Lake; and to Report the Result of their Enquiry as soon as possible to Congress

This to be kept as secret as the nature of the Service will admit
